

The study coordination of the department of law is looking for

Tutors

(research assistants (WHK) and student assistants (SHK))

- to conduct the lecture-accompanying study groups in the basic study programme or
- the repeat-study groups (these are directed at students who failed one of the "Zwischenprüfung" exams and have to repeat it).

We accept applications for the upcoming semester until approximately six weeks before the start of the semester.

Requirements:

- at least the first state examination in law, preferably with distinction ("very satisfactory" or better); for SHK, at least the state compulsory subject examination (preferably "very satisfactory" or better)
- in-depth legal knowledge
- as much didactic prior knowledge as possible

You are:

- flexible in terms of time
- reliable
- open and communicative
- didactically interested

Job description:

- Preparing and conducting of study groups.
- Preparation of students for the final exams, possibly correction of practice exams.

The study groups are lecture-accompanying and therefore count as teaching activities at the Faculty of Law and Political Science. The acquisition of two or more study groups is possible.

Please send the documents in support of your application to the study coordination (e-mail: studienkoordination@jura.uni-bonn.de).